Practice Quiz - Interacting with Software

Question 1:

What command would you use in Ubuntu Linux to get permission to install software?

Apt

Git

Sudo

Install

Adding sudo before the apt command tells Linux you are authorized to install software.

Question 2:

What command would you use in Ubuntu Linux to install a software package?

Run

Apt

B: Execute

Application

apt is a command we use in Ubuntu for package installs.

Question 3:

What file extension does Windows use for executable files?

.txt

.exe

.wav

.com

Windows uses the .exe file extension for executable files.

Question 4:

What is GIT's function?

Helps computer processes work automatically

Helps keep track of changes made to directories and files

Contains new features and critical security updates

Allows the computer to interact with hardware

Git is a version control system that helps keep track of changes made to files and directories.

Question 5:

What is the name of the command button in Windows that you click to remove programs?

Drop

Delete

Sudo

Uninstall

Use the "uninstall" command button to remove programs.